

ANTOPIA ADVENTURE

INSTRUCTIONS

Ant Farm® Habitat Set Up

1 Lift Top Cover at one end to remove as shown.

2 Cut small corner off bag of sand with scissors. Carefully pour into lower half of habitat as shown, filling sand just above the bottom edge of the scene.

3 Slowly pour in about 2 oz. (1/4 cup or 6cl) of clear drinking water. Sand should be evenly damp, but not soggy.

4 Replace Top Cover. Make sure it is fully snapped back into place.

Order Online To Populate Your Live Ant Habitat

Go to www.unclemilton.com to order your ants.

Online Order Code: AFC1956

Ants can only be ordered within the USA.

We will mail you an ample supply of Western Harvester ants (scientific name is Pogonomyrmex, meaning "bearded ants" because they appear to have little beards). These large ants are excellent diggers and make impressive tunnels in the sand.

Normally, we mail the ants to you within 2 to 5 weeks after we receive your order. But sometimes we delay them because it is too hot or too cold for them. It's best for you to send for ants when the temperature is less than 85° F and above 32° F. If you have an outdoor mailbox, don't let the ants stay in there for too long. It may be too hot or cold for them! If you want to, you can stock your habitat with ants right out of your own neighborhood. Look for large ants that cannot go through the air holes. Let the ants crawl up onto a stick without touching them. Remove the top frame and carefully shake the ants in.

If you get your ants in the mail, remember that they have been in a tube for quite a while, and are apt to be very hungry and thirsty. So it's a good idea to drop a little water into the habitat before you populate it.

When your ants arrive, be sure to read the directions that come with them. Before you open the tube of ants, put it in the refrigerator (not the freezer) for about 15 minutes. This makes them less active and much easier to put into the habitat. They will soon "warm up" to start working.

Remove the top cover, and carefully open the plastic tube of ants. Gently shake or tap the tube to place the ants, and quickly replace the top cover, making sure none have escaped. If the ants seem lazy the first few hours, don't worry. Put the habitat in a dark place overnight. They'll soon become accustomed to their new home.

To Re-populate Your Ant Farm®

Welcome your new ants to a clean home. Take your habitat apart and sift the sand clean for dead ants and leftover food bits, or use new sand. Rinse the plastic parts with water and blot dry (do not wipe – the clear parts can scratch easily). Fill the reassembled habitat with clean dry sand and moisten as directed at the beginning of this manual.

You can order a re-population kit online at www.unclemilton.com

The re-population kit includes everything you need to use your Ant Farm® Habitats over and over again.
